Headteacher's Message

It's been a fabulous start to the academic year. The children have settled well, enjoyed getting to know their new teachers and started to remember all the new routines that a transition to a new class brings. A special mention must go to our youngest children in nursery and reception, who have made a brave and bold start to their learning!

At the beginning of the week, I shared the story of 'The Dot' by Peter Reynolds with the children and challenged them to consider how they might take on the responsibility of 'making their mark' this year and enabling others to do the same. From the children's responses, it was clear that they have a brilliant attitude towards learning – I am so looking forward to working with them and watching them achieve highly!

I've also been impressed with the children's commitment to wearing their school uniform with pride. I can see that many parents have dutifully ensured children are ready to return with the right uniform and kit – thank you, it really does help the children to be ready and focussed for learning.

Finally, I'd like to say a big thank you to the whole school community for your warm welcome! It's always daunting to be the new person but I genuinely have been overwhelmed by the kindness and patience shown by all as I get to know the school better.

Have a wonderful weekend,

Lois Osborne
